Walk to Latourell Falls

While the day started out cold and foggy, the sun quickly burned its way out, to make for a perfect day for; a picnic, a hike, a sketch and a photo.

Several Wyeast Guild members and a few guests joined Rod & Becky for an artist's view of the falls. We discussed color & light, composition & scale and talked about how to capture it all on canvas and in our camera.

Your Camera's Secrets Revealed!

The class on unlocking your cameras secrets, held at the Sandy Public Library, was both a fun and educational experience for all who attended.

Susan Gates, brought a tin full of goodies to share while we went over the handouts and listened to the tips and tricks provided by Rod Stroh and Becky Hawley.

Afterward, we went over to Meinig Memorial Park, had our lunch and practiced what we talked about earlier.

5 Art Themes-SAT Shows

Play: “The Importance of Being Earnest” Opens: Thurs. Sept 18- runs until Oct 12

Art shows always open with the Thursday preview and the artwork take down will be after the play ends; generally, on the last Sunday at about 5:15pm.

Vern Groff has done wonderful work with the PR and show posters. Thank you, Vern! We need your help next season, to continue our efforts to produce these shows. Here is how you can help:

* You have an opportunity to have your work considered for the posters and for inclusion in the PR. You will find the deadline for this opportunity in the published show schedule. Send images of your artwork to us well in advance of the deadline!

* Help us estimate the number of pieces we will have in a particular show, by letting us know WELL IN ADVANCE, that you plan to enter your work. Sometimes we don't think the show will have enough art for a nice showing and then all of a sudden, right at the deadline, we have an influx of last minute entries. Next, *send the tag information in ADVANCE of the DEADLINES....*Deadlines are meant to be a cutoff date, not a target date.

* Offer to help with the shows. What are your skills, abilities and interests?

The Sandy Actors Theatre 2014-15 Show Schedule & Guidelines will be updated and sent later, next month.

Thank you!
